Soviets New Written Emigration Law

By SUSAN BIRNBAUM
 NEW YORK — (JTA) — The Soviet Union's codification of emigration procedures this month is being criticized as "smokescreen" by some Soviet Jewry movement leaders contacted by the Jewish Telegraphic Agency. Others, however, see some positive development in the new regulations.

The regulations, to take effect Jan. 1, define acceptable conditions for emigration, and temporary travel, differing significantly from the current procedure in two respects: having no provision for repatriation; and a new rule for quick application for

Friday Night

Bat-B'not Mitzvah

On Friday night, Nov. 28, for the very first time, Beth Torah Congregation will celebrate a B'not Mitzvah of a child and her great-grandmother!

Ivy Routman will become a Bat Mitzvah with her great-grandmother, Mollie Wiess. "G.G." (great-grandma) will also be celebrating her 85th birthday. They will both chant the melodies and have prepared this special service together with the help of Dr. Max A. Lipschitz, Rabbi and Cantor Zvee Aroni.

Ivy has been a member of the Beth Torah youth choir since age five and was part of the choir trip to Israel. Her parents, Carol and Lloyd Routman, are active members of Beth Torah. Lloyd is the Treasurer and Carol is the art teacher at Samuel Scheck Hillel Community Day School. Brother Howard celebrated his Bar Mitzvah at Beth Torah three years ago and went to Ramah in Israel this
